

Making a Will

Why should I make a Will?

Making a Will allows you to decide what happens to your estate after your death. If you die without a Will, your estate is distributed amongst your relatives according to fixed rules, without reference to your wishes. This can often lead to distress, hardship and expense for your family and friends.

How can Bell & Buxton help me?

We have specialist knowledge in this field and the whole process will be handled by one of our experienced solicitors. We will help to clarify your ideas and requirements, whilst offering specialist, practical advice regarding tax planning, trusts and property law. Whatever your circumstances, making a Will ensures that you have peace of mind and the family and friends you leave behind will be provided for.

What information will you need from me?

To draw up your Will, we will need to know a number of key things about you, your circumstances and your wishes. Therefore, to make the process more straightforward, it is a good idea to have a think about your wishes prior to our first meeting.

We will need to know:

- The full name and address of all the people named in the Will.
- A list of any specific gifts that you wish to make.
- A list of any/all assets/liabilities that you may have.

Once I have my Will, is that it?

Due to possible changes in your circumstances, those of your beneficiaries, or to the tax system, we would always recommend that you have your Will reviewed every three to five years. Once your Will is out of date, it is no better than having no Will at all. Wills drawn up here at Bell & Buxton Solicitors can be placed in our deed store at Telegraph House at no charge, so updating your Will is a simple and quick procedure. We will always be on hand to offer you advice or answer any questions you may have. We will ensure that the writing of your Will is a stress free and simple experience!
